

K-LOVE radio serves my community and many communities I travel in. The use of FM translators offers thousands like me the opportunity to hear its consistent message of hope and its call to live a consistent life of loving God and loving your neighbor. This is a critical need in American culture today.

My community and many others that I travel through would suffer a real loss if K-LOVE and other stations in my area were to be displaced by LPFM broadcasters providing other programming. Such national and regional program providers have the resources to bless so many people in smaller communities who otherwise would not benefit at all.

K-LOVE is clearly providing programming serving the public interest by offering news, inspirational music, public service announcements and calling on everyone within its signal to live lives worthy of God's calling on them and to contribute back to society by loving and caring for their neighbor and reaching out to anyone in need.

Please keep FM translators available for the benefit of us all!

Scott Noll
